ANNUAL REPORT.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

To the Inhabitants of the Town of Bloomfield :

The Board of Education presents the following report for the year ending June 30, 1904.

INSTRUCTION.

The usual increase in the enrollment of scholars has made necessary the formation of new classes at the Fairview and Watsessing schools. All the class-rooms in these buildings are now in use.

Provision was made for a new class-room for the High School by the transfer of the room of the Board of Education to the basement in the same building. The continued increase of scholars can now be cared for only by the use of the Assembly-rooms until better facilities are provided.

EVENING SCHOOL.

Only one term of the Evening School, beginning in October and ending in February, has been held.

While the numbers have been smaller than last year, the spirit and earnestness of its members have been manifest.

At the close of the term, resolutions of thanks to the Board of Education were adopted, and a request made for the continuation of the school during the second term.

This was partially met by the continuance of one class during the Spring months. The Board of Education feel that the good results attained fully justify the small expense incurred in the conduct of the school.

By an appropriation of one hundred dollars a course of eight lectures has been provided for the instruction of the general public, including the older scholars.

MANUAL TRAINING.

The whole course of Manual Training work, from the Kindergarten to the High School, has been put into operation. This course consists of exercises in drawing, modeling, sewing, basketry, metal-working, wood-working, and cooking. Of these, the drawing and wood-working cause about two-thirds of the expense incurred; sewing and basketry about one-quarter, the balance being divided between clay-modeling, metal-working and cooking.

For cooking less than thirty dollars was spent for material, and only fifty dollars was allowed for the service of a teacher. Of these expenses the State paid one half. The work of the Manual Training course has given great satisfaction to scholars and teachers. Its exercises give variety to the work of the schools, secure the attention of scholars wearied with other studies, and promote cheerfulness and good order.

Not a little of the work done has been of a high quality. Some of the art and basket-work will compare favorably with that made by trained hands in the shops.

BUILDINGS.

The usual repairs were made to the school-buildings. White glass was substituted for colored glass in the Assembly-room at the Fairview school-house in order to prevent the glare of the sunlight, which was found to be injurious to the eyes of the pupils. Shades were also hung over the windows.

An iron gate was placed at the entrance of the Watsessing school house, to abate the nuisance caused by loiterers at night.

MAINTENANCE.

Desks were placed in the High School, and at the Fairview and Berkeley Schools to accommodate new classes.

In October an exhibition of photogravures was given under the auspices of the Horace K. Turner Company of Boston, together with pictures loaned by the citizens of Bloomfield and the vicinity in aid of the Library fund. The proceeds, amounting to a little more than two hundred dollars, together with the money received from the State for library purposes, were spent in the purchase of pictures. By this means one small picture was secured for each class-room, and a large one for each Assembly-hall.

The pictures, which are copies of famous paintings, are highly appreciated by the teachers and scholars.

FINANCE AND SUPPLY.

A heavy drain upon the finances has been caused by the cold Winter and Spring, resulting in an unprecedented consumption of coal. This, with larger expenses for desks, books and stationery, has reduced the balance at the disposal of the Board to unusually low figures.

The appropriation made by the Board of School Estimate for the year ending June 30, 1905, while the same as for the current year, is relatively lower because of the increased number of pupils to be provided for.

In making their arrangements for the new year, the Board have made such reduction in expenses as seemed least likely to cause injury to the schools.

The total value of school property, including land, is estimated at $276,500. Four thousand dollars have been paid on the school debt, leaving a balance of $141,100, of which $139,000 is in bonds, and $2,000 in a mortgage upon the Centre school-house.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

By order of the Board of Education.

WILLIAM A. BALDWIN,
Secretary.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT.

OFFICE OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS, AND OF PRINCIPAL OF HIGH SCHOOL, OF CENTER SCHOOL, AND OF EVENING SCHOOL,

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., July 1, 1904.

The Board of Education, Town of Bloomfield:

GENTLEMEN—I beg leave very respectfully to present this, my seventh, annual report as Superintendent of Schools, in this community.

Considered from an educational point of view, the year 1903-4 has been uneventful. No new buildings have been erected, no new course of study has been installed in any subject, and no changes have been made in methods of instruction or in the program carried out in any of the schools. The important and significant matters have been as follows, namely:

1. The carrying out of the course of manual training as adopted by the Board last year, and accepted and endorsed by the State Department and Board of Education.

2. The development of the free public lectures, which were begun in 1902-3 as a regular course. The list of subjects and lecturers is presented elsewhere. (p. 26.)

3. The continuance of the admirable and very effective work that has been done for four years past by the Neighborhood Organization of the Berkeley School. A record of this work is presented elsewhere. (p. 27.)

4. The excessive growth in the registration at the Berkeley School, notwithstanding a further reduction of the district. By wholesale transfers, we were enabled to complete the year without beginning half-day classes or utilizing the Assembly-room for class purposes. In view of the steady growth in other schools and of the impossibility of further reduction of the district upon its northern boundary, transfers will be more difficult to arrange in the future.

5. The graduation from the Grammar Schools to the High School of seventy-four pupils—considerably the largest number since the separation of Glen Ridge from Bloomfield and the consequent withdrawal of many advanced grammar grade pupils from our schools.

6. The continuance of the excessive number of changes in the corps of teachers in all the schools, the High School as well as the elementary. The welfare of the education of the children and youth imperatively requires higher maximum salaries for the experienced teachers. From year to year we come dangerously near to losing all of our competent teachers of two or three years' experience.

7. The failure of the High School to grow in numbers to the extent anticipated, due to an unprecedented falling off in the attendance in the higher classes, and not to heavy losses between Grammar and High School, as is the usual case.

8. The demand in every school district for the establishment of seventh and eighth grammar grades in every school-house, with direct promotion to the High School.

9. The successful carrying out of the work of the new local Board of Examiners for the town of Bloomfield.

That the general public interest in the schools is on the increase, is evident from the attendance at the Berkeley public meetings, at the free public lectures, at the High School and Grammar School graduations, and from the demand for higher grade instruction in the Evening School and the Elementary Schools. When we remember that the population of Bloomfield is scarcely twelve thousand, the attendance of four hundred persons on the average at the Berkeley meetings, of three hundred at the evening lectures, of from five to eleven hundred at the various graduations (with hundreds necessarily refused admission), and the promotion of over one hundred pupils to eighth grade, form convincing evidence that the parents and citizens generally are more interested than ever before in the schools. Two comparative statistical records show the change. In 1896-7, there were still over two hundred Glen Ridge children in the schools, many of them in the highest grades. The population of the town was then about nine thousand. In that year there were enrolled in all the three seventh and eighth grade classes seventy-six pupils. This past year there have been enrolled one hundred and ninety-seven. In that year there were enrolled in the High School one hundred and thirteen pupils, of whom thirty-eight were from Glen Ridge, the net number from Bloomfield being seventy five. The present number has been nearly double that.

During the past year there have been conducted by myself the usual monthly and weekly teachers' meetings, and in addition two fortnightly meetings, one in English Literature by Miss Elizabeth H. Wyman, and the other in Child-Study by Miss Nellie M. Ingoldsby. I am under special obligation to them for their enthusiasm and skill in this extra labor, and take this opportunity to thank them. Especial acknowledgements are due also to Miss Mabel Freeman for her admirable work in preparing the pupils for their graduation appearances at Nos. 3 and 8; to Mr. L. A. Howard for the notable artistic and financial success of the High School pupils in their dramatic efforts; and to Mr. Peter J. Smith for the excellence of the music at each of the four graduation exercises.

I take pleasure in saying that in my judgment the schools at the end of the last term were on the whole in a very creditable condition.

Very respectfully,

W. E. CHANCELLOR.

BERKELEY NEIGHBORHOOD ASSOCIATION.

During the past year three meetings were held. At the first, Rev. George L. Curtis of the First Presbyterian Church gave an illustrated address upon "The Holy Land." Pupils from grades VI and VII took part in a wand drill, while pupils of the lower grade gave a drill called "The Little Puritan."

At the second meeting, Mrs. Margaret E. Sangster, editor of the "St. Nicholas Magazine," gave an address upon "Good Manners and Every Day Life." The pupils of the School sang several songs. Mr. Henry Gallien sang solos. A male quartette also rendered selections.

At the third meeting the Euterpean Orchestra of Bloomfield furnished the program, assisted by several soloists.

At all of the meetings, the parents of the pupils and the teachers of the School conferred with each other in the interest of the children. The year is regarded as the most successful in the history of the Berkeley School Neighborhood Association.
